Ine blke riders claim that they were informed last Wednesday night that the races would be called off unless they agreed to ride on percentage. At the time there was a crowd of people around the gates of the track waiting to get in. and the riders claim that rather than disappoint the people some of them agreed to accept these terms merely to get the races off. It is understood that there was a stormy meeting in the office of the management after the races, at which time Representative Sharp informed the secretary that he had no right to call off the races.

The riders then agreed with each other to continue the race as advertised and accept no money, and make a demand for the full prizes as advertised and accept no money, and make a demand for the full prizes as advertised and accept no money, and make a demand for the full prizes as advertised and accept no money, and make a demand for the full prizes as advertised and accept no money. In justice to Manager Schefski it must be said that he did his best to straighten matters out between whoever is responsible for the turn of affairs and the bicycle riders. However, it seems that he was ignored in the matter and now it is up to the N. C. A. to say whether any more races will be held there or not.

A strange honeymoon was that spent yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Nels Peter-son. Their wedding occurred in the morning just before the trial of Peter-son in the district court on a charge rowing out of his relations with the irl. Peterson and his lawyer disagreed and the latter declined to appear in the attorney but the young man declined and conducted his own case. There were conducted his own case. There were about twenty witnesses and Peterson displayed considerable ability in the examination of jurors and the cross-examination of inverse and the cross-examination of those giving testimony against him. The prosecution showed that the couple had been living together steadily in Peterson's house and that he refused to give the father of the girl any satisfactory promise. Peterson, in his own behalf, claimed that the girl had been sent away from home and that he took her in as a matter of charity. Peterson is 33 years of age and his bride is. The case went to the jury at about 4 o'clock. The jury at 10:30 returned into court and amounced that they could not agree. They were excused and a new trial is to
